VIOLENT ANTI-JAPANESE PRESS CAMPAIGN LAUNCHED IN ITALY

PREMIER SEES PEACE BALLOT DEPUTATION

RESULT OF VOTING PRESENTED

WHOLE COUNTRY BEHIND PEACE POLICY

London, To-day. The Prime Minister, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, and the Foreign Secretary, Sir Samuel Hoare, yesterday received a deputation of the organisers of the national declaration on peace and disarmament, commonly known as the Peace Ballot, in which 11,500,000 votes were cast out of estimated possible 30,000,000. The deputation, led by Lord Cecil, presented the result of the voting on the six questions submitted, which varied from majorities of 13 to 1 in favour of support of the League of Nations to 3 to 1 in favour of the employment of military sanctions. The majority for the total abolition of military and naval aircraft by international agreement was 4 to 1.

Lord Cecil said that the half a million voluntary workers by whose services the ballot was taken had found everywhere, but especially in humble homes, an eagerness to vote and a very intelligent appreciation of the issues.

CHURCH INTEREST

The Dean of Chichester emphasised the great interest the churches had taken in the national declaration. It had revealed a marked development of opinion, for many who started with pacifist opinions had come to see that the full doctrine of the Covenant was vital to the preservation of peace.

Miss K. D. Courtney said that the ballot had appealed to women because it represented recognition of the value of the judgment and intelligence of the ordinary citizen and because it enlisted the support of people of all parties.

DEVALUATION OF GUILDER INEVITABLE

Favoured By Lower House Majority

POLITICAL REACTIONS PROBABLE

The Hague, To-day. It is generally believed that the devaluation of the guilder is inevitable because the majority of the Second Chamber favours devaluation.

It is learned in Parliamentary circles that Dr. Colijn will advise the Queen to call on the Catholic leader, Dr. Aalberse, to form a new Government, but there are expected to be difficulties in his way as it is not likely that the Social Democrats will co-operate with the Catholics.—Reuter.

CRITICAL VOTE

A later message states that the public galleries in the Lower Chamber were crowded in expectation of the vote, which would be critical for the Government, and possibly for Holland's currency policy.

At the outset Dr. Westerman said that if the Government did not devalue the currency it would have to take effective measures to protect the Dutch currency. Severe control of the foreign exchange was essential to carry any new attack on the guilder.

REDEMPTION OF BONDS BY THE NORTH

Request By Canton Chamber

INSPIRED BY POLITICAL CONSIDERATIONS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Canton, To-day. Again the Central authorities have been asked by the Kwangtung and Canton Chamber of Commerce to refund the millions of dollars in bonds floated here for military purposes. The telegram does not state the amount, which is believed to be over $30,000,000.

These bonds were issued and subscribed here in order to raise funds for the Northern militarists. The Chamber pointed out that Kwangtung is in need of money for reconstruction and agricultural uses, hence Nanking should redeem the bonds.

It is believed that the Chamber's telegram is inspired by political considerations, as that body is supervised by the City Kuomintang. Possibly the Canton authorities are in need of money and wish to secure the redemption of the bonds floated in three sections in Canton.

Nanking's reply will show its feeling towards Canton. A similar telegram was sent to Nanking some time ago, but no reply was sent to the Chamber of Commerce.

WARSHIPS IN TYPHOON

Jardine's Vessels In Dirty Weather

HOP SANG 2 DAYS LATE

H.M.S. Dainty and Diana, which left at 4 p.m. on Monday for Foochow, were forced to put in at Amoy yesterday afternoon owing to the close proximity of the typhoon. It is understood that they left at midnight yesterday for Foochow.

Jardine's vessel, the s.s. Ho Sang, coming down from Japan, reports that she experienced very dirty weather, the typhoon crossing close astern. The s.s. Hop Sang of the same line, coming from Shanghai, was forced to anchor and consequently will arrive two days late.

A message from the Manila Observatory at 8:55 a.m. to-day states that a cyclone or typhoon is near over Guam, its direction being unknown.

AMERICAN SYMPATHY

U.S. OFFICERS PERMITTED TO AID ABYSSINIA

Elaborate Safeguards Against Air Raids

BRITISH SUBJECTS URGED TO LEAVE TERRITORY

—CHINA MAIL— SPECIAL

Addis Ababa, To-day.

The Emperor Haile Selassie was 42 years old yesterday. After a royal salute of 21 guns had been fired the birthday celebrations began with a reception of the Princes, Ministers and the diplomatic corps in the throne room of the old palace.

The doyen of the corps, the Belgian Minister, M. Jaussers, conveyed the greetings of the diplomats to the Emperor, while the Italian Minister, Count Vinci, and the Legation and Consular staff failed to appear. A telegram of congratulation couched in the warmest terms was received from the Emperor of Japan, a fact which is regarded by political circles here as of great significance as well as providing material for the Italian anti-Japanese press campaign.

—LONG LIVE AMERICA—

A striking incident occurred as the American Charge d'Affaires returned from the reception into the town, where in a spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm a large crowd surrounded his car waving flags and shouting: "Long live America!" The demonstration was due to the American Government having given officers permission to serve in the Abyssinian army, as well as an assurance of aid from the American Red Cross.

UNQUALIFIED DENTIST

Clients Suffer From Swollen Jaws

$100 FINE IMPOSED

Charged with describing himself as a dentist in advertisements and practising dentistry when he was not a registered dentist, a Chinese, Ho Ming-sang, was fined $100 by Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistrate's court this morning.

Mr. C. E. E. Sanderson appeared on behalf of the defendant, and pleaded guilty to the charge. Appearing for the prosecution, Sub-Inpector J. O'Donovan stated that in October last several persons went to have dental treatment at No. 76, Des Voeux Road. Later certain persons suffered from swollen jaws, and were informed that the swollen jaws were due to the gold caps which were put on by the defendant.

These complaints resulted in defendant's premises being visited by the authorities. Inpector O'Donovan concluded that unqualified dentists were a danger to the public.

ARGENTINE SENATOR KILLED: TWO OTHERS WOUNDED

Unknown Man Fires Several Shots During Debate

Buenos Aires, To-day. Senator Bordabehere was killed and Senators Duhan and Mancini were wounded in a shooting affray in the Senate, when an unknown man sprang up and fired several shots during a debate.—Reuter.

LANTAU IS MURDER TRIAL ENDED TO-DAY

Accused Guilty While Temporarily Insane

DETAINED DURING HIS MAJESTY'S PLEASURE

Tse Tam, a poultry keeper, was found guilty while temporarily insane of the murder of Chan Hing-tak, a fisherman at Tung Fuk village, Lantau Island, on June 11 by the jury in the Supreme Court this morning, and was ordered to be detained during His Majesty's pleasure by the presiding judge, Puisne Judge, Mr. R. E. Lindell.

Mr. J. A. Fraser, Assistant Attorney-General, instructed by Mr. W. J. Lockhart-Smith, appeared for the Crown, and the accused was defended by Mr. H. A. de B. Botelho.

The jury empanelled comprised Messrs. T. J. J. Fenwick (Foreman), G. J. C. Sommer, Tung Lim-cho, W. E. Hunt, B. Soltan, U Tak-chee, and A. E. Gutierrez.

PRINCE'S VISIT TO CHANNEL ISLANDS

Fog Stops Crossing By Aeroplane

DESTROYER ARRIVES ONE HOUR LATE

London, To-day. Owing to fog in the Channel the Prince of Wales, who began yesterday a short official visit to the Channel Islands, was unable to fly from the mainland to Jersey.

He left Portsmouth at midnight by the destroyer Faulkner and the fog was so thick that he arrived an hour later.

He was greeted at St. Helier with great enthusiasm and drove to the States Building, where he received an official welcome. To-day he is to proceed to Guernsey.—British Wireless Service.

WEATHER REPORT

A moderate anticyclone is centred over the Sea of Japan. It is extending westward to North China. The typhoon has filled up, but an area of low pressure remains over south and south-west China. A depression appears to be forming near Guam. South and south-west winds, moderate to fresh, generally overcast, occasional rain, was the forecast for to-day, as issued by the Royal Observatory this morning.

EMBASSY GUARDED

CHANGE IN ATTITUDE CONDEMNED

Criticism Of British Policy Continues

ANGLO-ETHIOPIAN SOLIDARITY BELIEVED PROVED

Rome, To-day.

A police guard has been placed outside the Japanese Embassy. A virulent anti-Japanese campaign has developed in the "Popolo d'Italia," which says that Japan's new attitude is violently at conflict with the Japanese Ambassador's recent assurance that Japan had no political interest in Abyssinia.

"Japan's sudden sympathy for poor Ethiopia," reveals Japan's aim for unlimited political and economic expansion in Africa as a new base for campaigning against Europe," says the paper.

The reports of anti-Japanese demonstrations in several towns which says that the public embarras is due to Signor Mussolini's latest pronouncement.

The anti-Japanese campaign has not obliterated the anti-British attack, which has been pressed for several weeks. "Gayda" in an

"Systematic Plot"

JAPANESE ALLEGATIONS AGAINST ITALY

Tokyo, To-day.

Declaring that the Foreign Office authorities resent the Italian press campaign, the Asahi Shimbun, apparently inspired, declares that the Italian press is deliberately antagonising Japanese public opinion and is indulging in a clear and systematic plot to develop the Italo-Ethiopian dispute into a general conflict between the coloured and white races, and is in this manner endeavouring to force Britain and France to protect the Italian policy.

Japan is taking the precaution not to play into the hands of Italy. Japan is merely watching the developments calmly and with the utmost caution.—Reuter.

GENERAL STRIKE CALLED OFF

SEQUEL TO LABOUR TROUBLE

Terre Haute, Ind., To-day.

The labour leader has called off the strike.—Reuter.

An earlier message stated that martial law had been declared after a general strike had been called, which paralyzed business and caused a food shortage.

National Guardsmen, armed with tear gas bombs, charged a mob of 2,000 strikers who gathered in front of Stamping Mill and refused to disperse. Several were struck on the head and injured.

Bummy Austin, here seen smashing against Ochot, will have to win his singles game against his American or German opponent next Saturday. If Britain is to retain the Davis Cup.

AMERICA LEADS

THRILLING TENNIS AT WIMBLEDON

GERMANS HOLD 5 MATCH POINTS!

VON CRAMM'S ARTISTRY

London, To-day.

America took a 2 to 1 lead over Germany in the Inter-Zone Final of the Davis Cup at Wimbledon yesterday when Wilmar Allison and John Van Ryn, the 1933 Wimbledon champions, beat Gottfried von Cramm and Lund 3-6, 6-3, 5-7, 9-7, 8-6.

To-day Allison is expected to beat Henkel to give America the necessary match for entry into the Challenge Round against Britain at Wimbledon next Saturday. Donald Budge is not conceded a very good chance against von Cramm in the remaining singles, despite his convincing win over Henkel in the opening match.

Yesterday's match was a dingo, spectacular struggle in which the German pair held match point on five occasions.

Von Cramm served some marvellous aces and returned the opposing cannon ball services in splendid style to give Lund countless opportunities for kills at the net.

WHIRLWIND TENNIS. The first set was played at a whirlwind pace, the Germans winning at 6-3 after only 19 minutes.

FOURTH CLASS FOR RAILWAY TO CANTON

PROPOSALS BEING EXAMINED

TO COMPETE WITH STEERAGE ON RIVER STEAMERS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Canton, To-day.

To discuss the proposed addition of a fourth class to the Canton-Kowloon trains, a representative of the Chinese section went to Hong Kong yesterday with instructions in this connection. The fourth class is to compete with the steerage class of river steamers.

Canton-Hong Kong passenger traffic is resuming activity following the steamer Lee Hang being again placed on the run. She was diverted to the Macao-Hong Kong service, whereupon passenger fares were slightly increased. As the Lee Hang is again competing with other steamers, another slash in fares is likely.

The Canton-Kowloon Railway wishes to inaugurate a fourth class for the benefit of poor people. At present the third class is patronised by middle class Chinese, while poor people find cheaper fares in the steerage accommodation of the river steamers. A new fourth class will meet a long felt want among the working class.

Railway fares are still too high, as compared with those of steamers. Although the train travels faster, thrifty people do not care about speed unless they are really in a hurry. The Canton section will round the Kowloon section concerning this new accommodation.

PITTMAN ON SILVER POSITION

U.S. Treasury Breaks Bear Raid

PROGRAMME CONTINUES SATISFACTORILY

New York, To-day.

The increased activity of the Montreal silver market is attributed to the remarks of Senator Pittman, stating that he was satisfied that the Treasury was carrying out the silver programme successfully and in the spirit in which it was intended, at the same time expressing the opinion that it was inevitable that the price would eventually reach $1.29.

Commenting on the present situation Senator Pittman declared that he was in favour of a steady, orderly price rise. "Only recently the Treasury broke the bear raid," he said, "and taught silver bears through the world a lesson they will remember."

Senator Pittman declared against the repeal of the 50 per cent silver profit tax, stating that it was adopted as a compromise between President Roosevelt and the silver bloc, and any move to repeal it without the Administration's consent would breach the compromise which resulted in the mandatory silver purchase legislation.

For the same reason Senator Pittman also did not sign the petition demanding more aggressive silver action, the success of which without Senator Pittman's support is considered most doubtful.—Reuter.

NO PERFORMANCE AT ALHAMBRA

Enquiries At Office

Following the withdrawal of their advertisement from the China Mail this morning, enquiries made at the office of the Hong Kong Amusements, Ltd., elicited the fact that there will be no performance at the Alhambra Theatre to-day.

The Alhambra Theatre was opened on January 31 of last year by Dr. E. H. Kotewall, C.M.G., the first picture shown being "Gold Diggers of 1935". There is seating accommodation for 1,795 persons altogether—682 in the dress circle, 410 in the back stalls, 404 in the middle stalls, 266 in the front stalls and 33 in the boxes.

The architects are Messrs. T. C. Wong and Co.

Basic Rule For Keeping Young

Suppling Exercises

YOUTHFUL, ELASTIC FIGURES OF DANCERS

A basic rule for keeping young is to keep supple. Notice most dancers, how they have youthful, elastic figures at an age when most people are beginning to feel a little thoughtful about "managing the stairs."

So exercises. They need not be strenuous ones; they need not be exercises for reducing, although they should help keep you in trim. They should be just a "daily dozen" arranged to keep you supple. Your poise will be improved. Your shape also, you will dance better, and your circulation will be kept flowing freely and thus keeping on the move all sorts of cells that are apt to lie down on the job as the years approach.

Thirty-five yards of silver lame were required for one evening gown designed by Adrian and worn by Joan Crawford in her new production, "No More Ladies."

Correct Ways Of Cleaning Lace

BOUFFANT SKIRTS AND TRAINS

Rivals For Season's Pride Of Place

MAGNIFICENCE OF COLOURS

Bouffant skirts and sweeping trains vie for honours this season, as far as evening gowns are concerned. Daytime skirts are fuller—often fullness is massed at the front—and they are a bit shorter. Even the colours are rich and magnificent. Shades of purple, ranging from the bluish tones to true, dark purple, are widely used. There is much black, of course, with white following close for second place.

LACE IS ALWAYS DAINTY

Becoming Accessory For Silk Fabrics

A becoming accessory for crepe de chine, marocain and other silky fabrics used for the dressier type of tailored suits is the blouse of lace. And no other is suitable for the not-so-young.

In ecru and clear ivory tones these lace blouses are designed on slimming lines. The upper part of the round or V-shaped neckline should be flat, just a covering of lace as a background for jewels, with narrow frills of finely tucked lace from shoulder to waistline, finished with a small butterfly bow of lace in the centre of the front.

LOVELY EVENING GOWN SEEN IN PARIS

A beautiful evening gown seen in Paris with swaggy type wrap to match, is made of white mat crepe with separated front panel of silver, corrugated by stitching. The wrap matches the panel. With this is a silver metallic hair ornament that takes the place of an evening hat.

Washing Needed For Keeping Colour

BUT RUBBING MUST BE AVOIDED

One may be rather fearful of washing an article of good lace, whether it be a blouse or merely a small jabot or a scarf. Lace should not be rubbed, but it must be well washed to keep it a good colour. The best way to loosen dirt is to soak the article to which borax has been added. Fine lace collars and other small dress accessories can be soaked in warm milk and borax instead. Then squeeze gently without rubbing in warm soapsuds, rinse in warm water, then in cold until the water is clear.

Lace is always improved by a light starching and a simple way of stiffening it is to dip the lace in cold milk after it has been rinsed. Iron while damp, and always on the wrong side. Fine old lace should not be wet, but dry cleaned with powdered magnesia. Do not rub it, but sprinkle it on plentifully and leave for a time. Afterwards, shake out the magnesia. Try cleaning gold and silver lace with rock ammonia which has been reduced to a powder. Rub it on the lace, then wipe it off.

EVENING HATS TO MATCH GOWNS

Now Being Extensively Displayed

Evening hats, are being worn extensively. Practically every evening gown has its own little bonnet to match. Some are mere wisps of velvet or chiffon. Others are done up in ostrich to match neckline, hemline or bottom-of-jacket trimming.

LAST WORD IN SHOES

Shoes made of linen to match the suit are the last word in shoes, especially when it is linen combined with pigskin, pale yellow and strawberry pink look enchanting.

KEEP YOUR EYES ON THE SCALES

Watch The First Few Extra Pounds

EASILY ELIMINATED IF CAUGHT IN TIME

Keep an eye on the scales. Many a lady is fat to-day who would be slim if she had watched the first eight pounds. It's the first eight pounds that count.

A sane diet, exercises, skipping and walking, will bring down the first few overweight pounds quite easily. Keep slim—don't get to the state where you haven't seen your feet for a long, long time, first!

YARDS AND YARDS OF MATERIAL

Outstanding Creation By Vionnet

Among the bouffant evening gowns, a red taffeta creation by Vionnet is outstanding. It has yards and yards of material in the skirt, a huge bow at the waistline in front, puff sleeves, off the shoulder neckline and a little evening hat of ostrich in matching shade of red.

Children's Summer Ailments.

You know how the long days say your own vitality. Small wonder, then, that little children, who are on the go, from morning till night, excepting perhaps for a short siesta, often become over-heated and over-tired, with feverishness, "tummy trouble, colds, or 'chill' developing as a result.

It is especially to meet such troubles that Baby's Own Tablets are designed. Each tablet contains the right amount of a simple substance given by children's specialists for gently cleansing the intestines and correcting summer diarrhoea. To relieve simple fever and the pains of teething, to dispel wind and colic and accelerate digestion, to relieve colds and cramps and to expel worms, there is nothing so good as this famous specific for children's ills.

HOLLYWOOD NOTES ON DRESS

What Two Stars Are Wearing

Maureen O'Sullivan is wearing the latest thing in hats. It is in black felt and has its inspiration in the flat topped caps of the French gaillois.

The hat is held on her head by means of a grosgrain ribbon band, and semi-circular ear-muffs of shirred ribbon are fastened at either side. It is quite the smartest thing for the younger girls who find it difficult to give up their pert little berets.

Rosalind Russell's favourite outfit is a small tailored suit in black and one red resting over the sheer wool. The blouse is left eye.

A PSEUDO-SQUEEZE

By Ely Calbertson

After taking his master's degree in Bridge mathematics and all-round technique, the player who pants for the higher learning continues his studies by delving into the mysteries of psychology. It is at this stage of his education that he comes to appreciate the beauties of pseudo—or purely psychological squeeze—the squeeze that depends for its effectiveness, not on the operation of a law of physics, but upon what the squeezee thinks.

One of the most perfect and devastating pseudo-squeezes I have ever seen occurred in the hand below. It was played in a duplicate game and practically every South player became declarer at the final contract of five diamonds, either doubled, undoubled or redoubled. With the normal opening of the heart Jack by every opening leader, every South player made his contract.

Perfect discarding by East could have set the bid. Yet, critical as I like to be about defensive play, I must admit that the correct choice of discards with the East hand is about as difficult as anything I have ever seen.

Against South's five-diamond contract, all the West players, as I have said, made the natural opening of the heart Jack.

At every table this was won with the Ace in dummy. Now the declarer proceeded to run his eight diamonds. All the defenders holding the East hand first discarded their two small hearts and two small spades. As more diamond leads were made, the East players began to find themselves in difficulties.

None of them, of course, knew that West held the ten of clubs and that South held only a singleton, and consequently all of them felt compelled to hold on to some sort of protection in the club suit. As a result, some of them discarded down to the blank Ace of spades, and thus the Declarer was able to set up a spade trick.

Others bared down before the seventh trump was played to the Ace-Queen of spades, the King-Queen of hearts and the King-Queen of clubs. When, on the next to the last trump, the declarer, being forced to play first from dummy, threw a club, keeping two hearts, the East players unwisely threw, not a club, but one of the hearts.

The declarer, of course, now fulfilled his contract by setting up a heart or by playing out the last trump, discarding a heart from dummy, then cashing the club Ace and winning the hand by throwing East in with the top heart for an end-play.

The proper defence is shown by reference to the best trap laid by a wily Declarer. After seven tricks, the relevant hands hold:

"WOMAN IN THE DARK"—KING'S THEATRE

The question of whether a man and woman who have incurred society's disfavour have a right to each other's love is daringly answered in Dashiell Hammett's latest picture, "Woman in the Dark", showing at the King's Theatre to-day. In unfolding his plot the author of "The Thin Man" has probed to the quick emotions of his principal characters.

John Bradley, on parole after serving a prison sentence for manslaughter, and Louise Loring, a woman trying to end an unpleasant affair, are caught in a maelstrom of events which have no power to control. Handicapped from the start, they are persistent in their efforts to live down.

Ralph Bellamy is cast in the understanding and capable role of Bradley and Fay Wray is the beautiful and moving Louise. The "Woman in the Dark."

Melvyn Douglas, suave leading man of the recent Broadway hit, "No More Ladies", portrays Robinson, the man-about-town with whom Louise wishes to break off. When he finds she is determined not to come back to him he tries to force her to return. Bradley attempts to save her from him and a fight ensues, after which Bradley is compelled to flee with Louise. Events thereupon build rapidly to a surprising climax.

Roscoe Ates has the role of Tommy Locke, Bradley's comic pickpocket pal. Ruth Gillette, Bates and Nell O'Day are also in the cast. The picture was directed by Phil Rosen from Sada Cowan's adaptation for Select Production for RKO-Radio release.

"VAGABOND LADY"—QUEEN'S THEATRE

"In 'Vagabond Lady,' which is now showing at the Queen's Theatre, Robert Young has his first opportunity to prove that he is a very fine comedian as well as a dramatic actor. Hitherto Young has been given parts which called for serious situations and the result has been that he has never reached the pinnacle of popularity.

At last M.G.M. have given him a part which calls for humorous situations and Young makes the most of his chance. He is seen as the son of a wealthy department store owner who shocks his father and his dignified elder brother, Reginald Denny, by walking about in a pair of dungarees. He is supported by Evelyn Venable who takes the part of the daughter of "Spiggs" the store's janitor.

Others in the cast include Bertton Churchill, Frank Craven, Forester Harvey, and Ferdinand Gottschalk.

"SUNNY SIDE UP"—STAR THEATRE

The first all talking-singing-dancing extravaganza, which made Janet Gaynor the world's favourite and Charles Farrell the most popular leading man, besides cementing a partnership which has lasted through the years with undiminished success, comes to the Star Theatre to-day for one day only.

This will probably be Hong Kong's last chance of seeing this famous film, and those who have not seen it had better make the most of their opportunity. The famous songs "If I had A Talking Picture Of You," and "Turn On The Heat" are worth hearing again.

"WOMAN IN RED"—ALHAMBRA THEATRE

Barbara Stanwyck has a part to play in "Woman in Red," which opens at the Alhambra Theatre to-day, that calls for all her powers to make emotional acting of the type convince.

This film, which was banned in other places because of its theme, tells the true story of a woman who sacrificed everything to attain her own ends. Gene Raymond, the blonde menace, who is the present rage of America, has the principal male role, opposite Miss Stanwyck, while Genevieve Tobin turns in a very creditable performance.

The Court of Errors and Appeals at Trenton, where the last appeal of Bruno Richard Hauptmann to the New Jersey authorities was carried by his attorneys.

"THE WINNING TICKET"—ORIENTAL THEATRE

There is always something funny about families of mixed nationalities—but when such a family is headed by Leo Carrillo and Louise Fazenda that is something else again.

Wholesale hilarity is presented by this team, introduced as the latest comedy couple in pictures, in "The Winning Ticket," showing at the Oriental Theatre to-day. It is an uproarious romance of the Irish Sweepstakes.

The Italian's family tree is a veritable forest, and what with relatives, searching for a missing sweepstake ticket that won the capital prize, a stay in gaol and a few other troubles, the fun waxes fast and furious. It is not slapstick fun, and many deft touches of human interest and intimate details of family life, as well as a romance, serve to accentuate the sparkling humour of the swiftly moving story.

"CAPTAIN HATES THE SEA"—MAJESTIC THEATRE

Victor MacLaglan, so often teamed together with Edmund Lowe, deserts his partner in this picture and proves that he can carry through a full-length comedy drama on his own broad shoulders.

The cast is all-star and the setting, as the title suggests, is a maritime one. The story deals with the lives of an assortment of different types thrown together in the limited space of a cruising liner. MacLaglan is cast as a detective, while others include John Gilbert, Wynne Gibson, and Tala Birell.

FRENCH RAILWAYS TO BE REORGANISED

CHANNEL BUOYS

WHAT would modern navigation do without the channel buoys—those floating markers that keep ships off the shoals? In a very real sense, the advertisements in this paper are channel buoys, placed for your protection—for the safeguarding of the family expenditures.

These advertisements are the signed statements of reputable firms who seek your patronage on the single basis of giving value for every dollar spent. They are honest statements, the only kind an advertiser can use and remain an advertiser.

People who get the most for their dollar in the market-places are those who keep an eye on the channel buoys. Day by day, they follow the advertisements to learn what and where to buy to the best advantage. Make this a habit. Study the advertisements, in the interest of shrewder buying.

The advertisers in this paper have charted the channels of buying for you. Keep to the course.

PERRY EXTENDED BY VAN RYN CARRIED TO VERGE OF FIFTH SET

CAREFULLY CALCULATED ASSAULT WITHSTOOD

(By A. Wallis Myers)

London, June 28.
RAIN threatened, but did not fall at Wimbledon yesterday. It was cool enough to modify the growing demand of the Continentals for a ten minutes interval after the third set.

The singles had their fields cut in half—the men's reduced to 16 and the women's to 31. By to-morrow evening we should get the select last eight among the former.

Of the 16 survivors in the men's singles, England can claim 4—Perry, Austin, Hughes and Sharpe. The British Dominions supply another 4—Australia 3 and New Zealand 1.

Thus the British Empire is in possession of half the field. America claims 3 and the Continent of Europe the rest. Germany, France, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Spain each has its unit.

SCHMELING PREFERS TO MEET BAER

Better Prospect Of Title Bout

BOUT IN SEPTEMBER

Berlin, July 16.
Max Schmeling was undecided to-day whether to fight Joe Louis or Max Baer in New York in September, but intimated he was inclined to take on Baer because this match offers a chance at the world heavyweight title both once held.

Madison Square Garden offered the Black Uhlans a match with Baer on about September 26, the winner to be matched with Jimmy Braddock, who took Baer's crown a month ago, next June.

Sanquill's manager revealed he will receive $2,500 for the match, as well as travelling expenses. The contract also contains an option of Sanquill's services for further New York appearances if Madison Square Garden authorities so desire.

DUNCANS WIN

FAVoured RECREIO PAIR WELL BEATEN

F. X. Silva Outplayed By Younger Rival

SEMI-FINAL THRILLS

(By "SKIP")

Playing in a drizzle of rain yesterday, which culminated in a heavy downpour towards the end of the game, L. Duncan and R. Duncan, the Kowloon B.C.C. combination, beat F. X. Silva and C. G. Silva, of the Club de Recreo, by 22 shots to 14 to enter the Final Round of the Colony Lawn Bowls Pairs Championship. The match was stopped on the 20th head when the Recreo pair gave the game to their opponents who had established an 8-shot lead.

The game, which took place on the Civil Service green, was featured by the brilliant play of the younger Duncan, who, despite his comparative inexperience, had his opposite, F. X. Silva, beaten on almost every head.

C. G. Silva was not seen at his best yesterday, his driving in particular being weak. The contrary was the case with R. Duncan, who excelled yesterday with this type of shot.

Silva Open Badly
The game opened badly for the Silvas, who were being led by 13 shots to 6 on the eleventh head. At this stage however, they reproduced some of the form they displayed when playing R. F. Luz and H. Beer, and managed to draw level at 14-all. Their remarkable comeback did not last long, unfortunately, for a five on the 18th head robbed them of any hope of victory.

Three Ex-Champions On View On Bowls Rinks This Afternoon

The three games which comprise the bowls programme for to-day are all highly interesting ones, for in the Singles no less than three of the players are ex-champions while the pairs game is a semi-final duel.

Playing as he is now, E. el Arculli, with the possible exception of A. W. Crimmitt, is the greatest menace A. M. Holland has met thus far so the game will probably produce a high standard of bowls.

A. Hyde-Lay is definitely playing better bowls just now than what he was earlier in the season, so his match with F. Cullen, which takes place on the Recreo green, will be closer than originally supposed. Cullen is right on top of his form at the moment and a win for him is anticipated.

J. Cavanagh and M. J. Medina, who so spectacularly defeated the holders of the pairs title, F. Jones over done—F. Stacey Lintott.

To-day's bowls programme is as follows:

Singles
A. M. Holland v E. el Arculli (Civil Service)
F. Cullen v A. Hyde-Lay (Recreo)

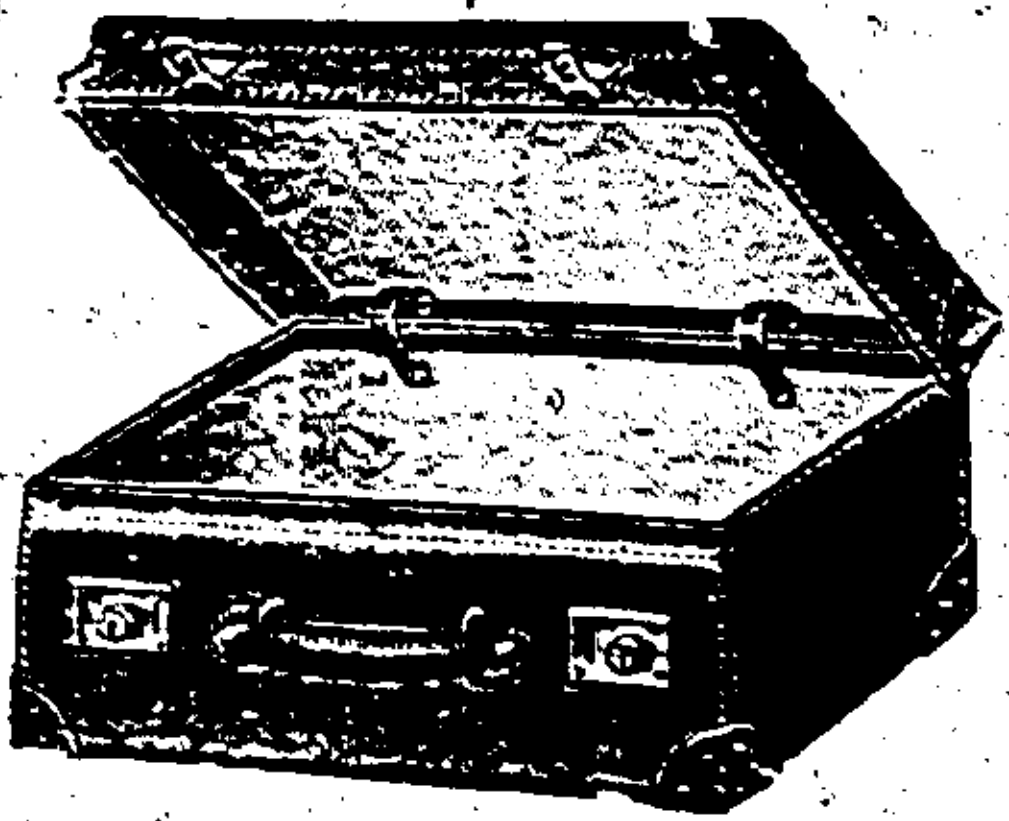

Pairs
M. J. Medina and J. Cavanagh v S. Eccleshall and J. Shepherd (Bowling Green)

STYMIE ANACHRONISM

K.C.C. RESERVES DO WELL AGAINST CRICKET CLUB

Mackay And Grose
Secure Unexpected
Point

SPOILS SHARED IN "A"
DIVISION

Despite the fact they were playing a "C" Division pairing in G. A. White and W. Gittins and another reserve in N. A. E. Mackay, the Kowloon Cricket Club forced the Club to a draw of 4½ sets each on the latter's courts yesterday in the "A" Division of the Lawn Tennis League.

With A. E. P. Guest and M. Pagh in the side the mainlanders would have won by a convincing margin. As it was Mackay and Grose surprised Sullivan and Pearce in poor light to share the final set and so ensure a division of the spoils.

E. F. Fincher's powerful service (on occasion) and Bathurst's overhead work provided the features of an unusually dull encounter.

Scores:—

SCHMELING PREFERS TO MEET BAER

The offer to meet Louis, the Detroit "black menace," comes from Mike Jacobs, promoter of the Yankee stadium scrap last month in which the Negro battered giant Primo Camera. This scrap would be staged on September 18 at the Polo Grounds.

"Louis is out of the picture as far as the Garden is concerned," said the boxing director, James J. Johnston in seeking the Baer-Schmeling bout. "He refused to fight for us last winter."—Associated Press.

Sports Chatter

(By JOE FREY SIMPSON)

London, June 27.

The unusual is always happening in sports. A. D. (Bobbie) Locke, a South African boy golfer, is a superprodigy.

At the age of 17 he won both the amateur and open golf titles of his country—and goes on his way untrifled.

A day or two ago, over the Irena course, Pretoria, he returned a score of 67, beating bogey by nine strokes.

Just to show this was not a fluke, he went round again in the afternoon in 70.

In Pretoria they are speaking of him as another Bobby Jones.

SCORING IN BOWLS

Bowls is such a pleasant, peaceful game that I am sorry to hear there is a little dissatisfaction internally—which does not, of course, manifest itself on the greens.

It concerns the law which decrees that matches of three, four, five, or more rinks shall be decided by the aggregate of shots scored on all rinks.

In three representative games recently, including the England v. South Africa match, the result has gone to the side that has lost on the greater number of rinks.

Now there is a tendency towards adopting the Football League principle in the rink game—two points to every rink that is ahead at 21 ends and one point for every tie at that period.

Men who have played on crown greens, on their part, are demanding that the E.R.A. should settle championships by single combat and the aggregate scores of the individual members of the team.

DUNCANS WIN

Yesterday's showing the Duncan's were obviously the superior pair, particularly the lead, who found his length and green early and hung on to it tenaciously until the end. F. X. Silva, although playing well at times, was too spasmodic to be effective, with the result that C. G. Silva had to drive too often.

R. Duncan's Driving

R. Duncan was playing well throughout and on three distinct occasions drove successfully. On the 8th head his skill in this direction was proved when he drove through a narrow port and carried the jack for the shot amid a round of applause from the spectators.

Two heads later C. G. Silva showed a glimpse of his true form. The opposition were lying two shots and Silva attempted to carry the jack to his back woods for a count of three. Twice he sent up two beautiful bowls that glanced off the jack on both occasions and just failed to register by a matter of inches.

On the next head C. G. Silva was again seen in deadly mood, which if he had only managed to retain would have won him the game. This time the Duncan's were lying four and Silva came up with his last wood to trail the jack for a count of two.

On the 15th end R. Duncan played the most brilliant shot of the game. He drew when the opposition were lying six and, despite the fact that what seemed to be two perfectly placed bowls blocked his path, negotiated a narrow port and lay the second shot.

The Duncan's will now meet either M. J. Medina and J. Carnagh or S. Eccleshall and J. Shepherd, who play off their tie to-day. Playing as they did yesterday they should manage to overcome either of these pairs, although the condition of the green will, as always, be a telling factor.

A.A.A. AMENDMENT BILL PASSED BY SENATE IN U.S.

Extensive Changes Incorporated

MEASURE TO GO TO CONFERENCE

Washington, To-day.

After a fortnight of furious debate the Senate, by a vote of 65 to 15, finally passed the Agricultural Adjustment Administration Amendments Bill, carrying a limited ban against suits to recover processing taxes and a provision intended to validate the existing crop control contracts, while the proposed price-fixing provisions were eliminated.

Introduced with a view to broadening the powers of the farm administration and to protect it against the mounting court attacks, the bill was changed in many respects and in no way granted the sweeping powers requested by Mr. Henry A. Wallace, Secretary for Agriculture, thus constituting a compromise necessitated by the increasingly critical attitude of the Senate towards all measures of which the constitutionality is doubtful in the light of the recent court decision.

Critics of the Administration's foreign trade policy vainly tried to curtail the President's tariff bargaining powers by offering a restrictive rider, which, however, was turned down.

The bill will now go to conference with the House of Representatives with a view to adjusting the differences with the House version—Reuter.

DEVALUATION OF GUILDER INEVITABLE

A divergence of views was expressed by succeeding speakers—Reuter.

SUPPORT WITHDRAWN

A later message states that the state of the Government became doubtful when Dr. Aalbertse, leader of the Catholics, announced in the Chamber that the Catholics were unable to support a motion of confidence in the Cabinet's economic policy.

The Catholics, who hold 28 votes out of the Chamber's 100, have hitherto supported the Government and are represented in the Cabinet by the Ministers of Justice, Defence and Economic Affairs.

A later message states that there were tense scenes in the Chamber following the refusal of the leaders of the Catholic and Socialist Parties to support a motion of confidence in the Government. The Premier, Dr. Colijn, declined to permit an adjournment of the discussion, which was agreed to, and a special meeting of the Cabinet was summoned for tomorrow morning.

It is expected that the Cabinet will then either resign or ask for the dissolution of the House—Reuter.

BERLIN STOCK MARKET

BRISK BUYING IN EVIDENCE

-CHINA MAIL- SPECIAL

Berlin, To-day.

Although Italy's suspension of the 40 per cent. lira gold cover and the consequent drop of the lira quotation on all the foreign Bourses gave rise to considerable discussion in the Bourse here yesterday, the event in Italy had apparently no influence on share prices, which gradually stiffened, both the public and operators buying briskly. Metallurgicals were especially firm.

Fixed interest securities were firmer in tone, gold mortgage bonds being in demand, but the turnover was not great.

Call money was at 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 per cent.—Trans-Ocean Service.

Official circles explain that the temporary suspension of the law concerning the gold coverage does not mean the depreciation of the lira. The Italian Government intends replacing the gold reserve as soon as possible.

RESERVE FLEET
COMMANDREAR-ADM. DICKENS
APPOINTED

GRANDSON OF NOVELIST

London, To-day. Rear-Admiral G. C. Dickens, grandson of the novelist, has been appointed to the command of the Reserve Fleet, in succession to Admiral Astley-Rushton, who was killed in a motor accident—Reuter.

A message dated June 20 said that Vice-Admiral Astley-Rushton was killed in a motor car accident the previous night. Since April, 1934 he had been in command of the Reserve Fleet which was specially mobilised for the Jubilee Review, and the week before he was one of the King's guests at dinner on the Royal Yacht.

He had a distinguished War career. He commanded the cruiser Southampton, which was the first naval ship to sink a German submarine by gunfire. In 1931 he became commander of the Second Cruiser Squadron and paid the first post-war naval visit to German waters.

Vice-Admiral Rushton was returning from the Admiralty to Portsmouth, when the car struck a tree and was wrecked near Petersfield. No one saw the accident.

Vice-Admiral Rushton was promoted Captain in 1916; Rear-Admiral in 1927; and Vice-Admiral in 1932.

In 1930, he completed two years as Director of the manning department, and in 1931-1932 he commanded the Second Cruiser Squadron. During the War he was second-in-command of the Southampton and in command of the Melbourne, both with the Grand Fleet. In the former ship he took part in all the great North Sea actions, and was specially commended for service at Jutland, where the Southampton received severe casualties and damage. He was Director of the R.N. Staff College from 1922 to 1925.

But the fears of a large-scale Italian air raid on Addis Ababa are evidenced by the fact that the Legation authorities have already provided elaborate safeguards against bomb attacks, and that all British subjects, especially missionaries, have been urged to leave the country.

COUNCIL MEETING

A message from Paris says that the League of Nations Council meeting next week has now definitely been agreed upon by the British and French Governments, and it is semi-officially stated. The exact date will be fixed by the President of the Council, M. Litvinoff, who is expected to arrive in Paris one day this week, while the Secretary-General of the League, M. Avenol, is already there.

The Abyssinian question, it is understood, will be handled from the standpoint of Article XV of the League Covenant, which determines the procedure in cases of dispute between the members. Either party can bring up a dispute before the League of Nations and if the League is unable to settle the dispute, it can, according to this clause, publish a report and recommendations, leaving it to the discretion of the other members to take the "necessary measures"—Trans-Ocean Service.

ANGLO-FRENCH AGREEMENT

London, to-day. As a result of the exchanges which have taken place it is now authoritatively stated that a close agreement exists between the French and British Governments in regard to the efforts they are making to obtain a peaceful solution of the Italo-Abyssinian dispute. It is widely hoped that at the League Council meeting, which is to be held next week, thorough ventilation of the issues involved will reveal the lines upon which such a solution may be sought. It will be for members of the council to decide upon the agenda, but while the incident at Ual-Ual will in all probability be first dealt with, it is considered almost certain that the Council will thereafter desire to consider the dispute in all its aspects. — British Wireless Service.

A call was received at 6.40 last evening at the Central Brigade Station, a fire having broken out in Messrs. Gilman and Company's premises in the Gloucester Arcade. Fire appliances, under Superintendent H. T. Brooks, quickly arrived on the scene.

The premises were closed when the Brigade arrived and it was necessary to use axes to force an entry. The outbreak was subdued within a few minutes, less than a quarter of an hour elapsing from the time the first call was received at the Central Brigade Station. ## AMERICA LEADS

The Americans continually crowded the net in the second set and, volleying magnificently, came on level terms after 12 minutes.

The Germans jumped into a 5-2 lead in the third set, but the Americans overhauled them only to lose at 7-5.

Von Cramm and Lund held two match points in the tenth game of the fourth set, but Allison stormed the net and by brilliant volleying and overhead work saved the situation.

THRILLING FINAL SET
The fifth set was the most thrilling of the day. The Americans appeared to have the match in hand when they established a 4-1 lead, but the Germans pulled up to 5-4, von Cramm being superb all-round and Lund crashing over service aces.

The German pair held three match points, but the Americans again snatched the match out of the fire, though Allison's winning service ace was generally considered six inches out—Reuter.

AMERICA'S RECORD
The United States have won the Davis Cup on 11 occasions, and last entered the Challenge Round of the series in 1932 when they lost to France at Antwerp by the odd match in five.

In the last encounter against Germany, in the Inter-Zone final in 1929, America was represented in the Doubles by Wilmer Allison and John van Ryn, who are again in this year's team. This was, incidentally, Tilden's last appearance against Germany before he became a professional.

Germany was on that occasion represented by H. Moldenbauer and Daniel Prenn, both of whom have since been dropped from the team.

YVONNE ARNAUD
"APHRODITE"How She Sprang
To Fame

Miss Yvonne Arnaud told the City Livery Club, whose guest she was at a luncheon at the Carpenters' Hall recently, how she started on the stage. She had been invited to explain by the president of the Club, Mr. H. Holton Sturges, who revealed that he first met Miss Arnaud in the sea—"like another Aphrodite, she sprang from the foam."

Miss Arnaud, after referring to her cinema work as "doing those tinned things," explained: "From nine years old I played the piano in concerts in America," she said. "There could be nothing more terrifying to a tiny tot than to play, concertos in that cold concert hall atmosphere. Why, it is always cold I do not know!"

She Floated

"I think this training when young gave me rhythm. With rhythm you can face any audience. Once I walked on to the stage, I thought: 'It cannot be so very difficult. I shall sink or swim.' Being rather plump I floated!"

Mr. Holton Sturges, proposing Miss Arnaud's health, said he never thought English was so beautiful until he heard it fall from Miss Arnaud's lips.

NEW YORK STOCK
MARKET

"Cotton: The weakness of July cotton and prices in New Orleans have influenced scattered liquidation and local selling, whilst bearish sentiment is increasing. The Government is reported to be buying May and selling October cotton. Weather conditions in most sections of the Cotton Belt are favourable.

"Rubber: Speculators were on the sidelines. Manufacturers are confining their purchases to declines. Favourable restriction and automobile trade news was disregarded. A cautious accumulation appears to be the best policy."

The following cables were received last night:
"Stocks: The better action of railroad issues to-day is encouraging and should help the general market."

"Cotton: The Government is reported to be buying May cotton."

SLAVONIC MUSIC
IN LONDONLast Koussevitzky
ConcertTAUT READING OF THE PATHETIQUE

London. Serge Koussevitzky concluded recently the remarkable series of concerts he conducted for B.B.C. Festival at Queen's Hall with a Slavonic programme—the very programme most people would have chosen had the choice been theirs.

The evening began with a new performance of Glinka's overture "Russian and Ludmilla," an attractive enough prelude to the two works which followed, Tchaikovsky's "Pathetique" and Stravinsky's "Le Sacre du Printemps"—each characteristic of its time, the symphony of the Russian vogue at the beginning of the century and "Le Sacre" of the revolt against romanticism, which followed promptly in its wake.

Clean Reading

It was a pleasure to hear the conductor's clean, taut reading of a symphony which has been pulled about and stretched, hustled and held back more than any other musical work in existence. Koussevitzky's conception allowed climaxes to be built up freely and gave its due to every glittering detail. It excluded absolute alterations of time and pace one found so disturbing in the interpretation of Mengelberg.

Koussevitzky's departures from the letter were few, and not inconsistent with the spirit. The pace changed once during the first movement, and the trio of the dance was slower than the dance itself. But he insisted on the right colour, and in the two parts of the trio the accent differed according to the generally disregarded directions of the composer. The texture was pellucid mainly because the strings were never overwhelmed by the heavier instruments of the orchestra.

All Rhythm

If the Pathetique represented a barbaric ideal western civilisation can recognise and applaud, "Le Sacre" represented a barbaric ideal barbarism themselves must find difficult to explain. It is rhythm and nothing but rhythm—tremendously engrossing at first, but once mastered, somewhat obvious. One has a feeling that these "Ancient" these Koussevitzky made the orchestra do wonders, and showed that in some ways "Le Sacre" can still astonish. Time, however, is even more powerful than a conductor, and remorseless. "Le Sacre" has aged. If the Greeks had a word for this pagan rite, that word began or ended in "Katon."

The Return Of Confidence

An immediate response was made by the City recently to the cheerful speech of the Chancellor of the Exchequer at the Bankers' dinner. A couple of months ago, in his Budget statement, Mr. Chamberlain spoke in very confident vein. In the interval, though disturbing elements have come from abroad, the barometer at home has stood squarely at Fair; the employment reports have been steadily encouraging; and we have seen every sign of expanding trade and increasing purchasing power. As the Chancellor said, "The revival of prosperity has gone far enough that people can dare to be happy." His set of comparative statistics was very striking. If, since 1910, the savings of the people in Government-controlled thrift institutions have quadrupled, if their life insurance premiums have trebled, if they drink 50 per cent. more tea and smoke 60 per cent. more tobacco, if the bank deposits have nearly trebled and the average daily clearances have more than doubled, there cannot be much doubt that "the condition of the people" has wonderfully improved, and that Britain's returning prosperity is well based.

Grave blemishes there are which would make complacency a crime. But there is no reason to suppose that the causes which have led to the improvement of the last four years have spent their beneficent force. The Chancellor does not believe that "the combination of cheap money and the moderate tariff system has yet exhausted its effectiveness," or that the saturation point has been reached in the home market for home-made products. Further spectacular expansion, indeed, there cannot be unless there is an all-round revival of international trade, and considering the political unrest on the Continent, the intensity of the current economic nationalism and the continuing absence of an international standard of value, it is difficult to see how this general revival can be set going.

What would help most would be clear signs of a willingness to return to an international standard of value and the stabilisation of the exchanges. The Chancellor in his references to this was obviously replying at long range—to the recent pronouncement by the Secretary of the U.S. Treasury and to Mr.

Hull's formal statement that stabilisation of currency was an important part of the trade programme of the U.S. Washington, they intimated, would put "no obstacle in the way of stabilisation," but would not act alone. Mr. Chamberlain's reply was that stabilisation could not be considered without good prospect of stability of conditions. Lord Bradbury on the same occasion put the whole British argument in a single sentence when he said that "unless and until nations with a favourable balance of payments are content so to frame their fiscal and monetary policies as to permit such balances to be discharged otherwise than by absorption and sterilisation of the monetary metals it is futile to talk of the restoration of metallic standards." That is the crucial problem for Washington as the chief creditor and would-be again chief exporting country, but on that point there was dead silence from the Chief of the U.S. Treasury and the Secretary of State. Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Morgenthau stand like Sir Richard Strachan and the Earl of Chatham in the epigram, each with (dress) sword drawn and eager to be at the other, but both frozen into the immobility of bronze. Nevertheless the preliminary movements must begin some day.

BOGUS CLUBS IN LONDON

Woman Proprietor
Fined £50

London.
Mrs. Jean George, principal of the Palis Club, St. John's-road, Brixton, was fined £50 and 25 guineas costs at Lambeth last month for breaches of the Licensing Acts. The club was struck off for 12 months.

William Pudner, secretary of the club, residing at Foxley-road, Brixton, was fined 40s for aiding and abetting.

Good Profits

The prosecution stated that Mrs. George had been defying the law and making a profit of £11 a week for herself.

Mr. Barrington Ward, imposing the fines, said the club was an unlicensed public-house, and should have been called the "George Arms." These disreputable, bogus clubs were undermining the business of legitimate public-houses. Pudner he described as "a super-potman."

FATHER DAMIEN'S GRAVE

By a decree of the Hawaiian Government an annual sum is to be set aside for the preservation as a national monument of the graves of Father Damien and his successor, Brother Joseph Dutton, on the island of Molokai.

The graves have been sadly neglected. It is more than 60 years since the Hawaiian Government banished its lepers to Molokai. Father Damien, then a young Belgian missionary, went with them and after 16 years of heroic service as priest, doctor, and administrator, died of leprosy.

Molokai is a mountainous island of 250 square miles to the east of Honolulu. The leper colony is on a shelf overhanging the sea and shut off from the rest of the island by cliffs 2,000 feet high.

PASCAL'S ROULETTE

In connection with the recent Pascal anniversary, Lord Halsbury recalls Pascal's most popular invention.

It was the roulette wheel. Pascal's greatest work in mathematics was on the calculus of probability. It was in a search to discover which of its two postulates was true that the roulette wheel came into being.

Pascal's original wheel, now in a Paris museum, consisted, not of the familiar ball, but of a spinning needle against the present roulette numbers.

COMING ELECTION IN ENGLAND GENERAL TENDENCIES EXAMINED

BLACK COUNTRY MAY REVERT TO LABOUR

(By Oliver Baldwin)

IN Westminster there is great talk of the forthcoming election and much speculation as to its date and results. So far, however, nothing concrete has emerged for the simple reason that the controllers of our Parliamentary destiny have not yet weighed up the pros and cons.

It is likely, however, that when the House rises the Prime Minister will go abroad for a well-earned rest and that the final decision to hold an election will not be made till September.

There will then be two alternatives before the Government. Either to go to the country at the end of October, in order to forestall a possible winter increase in unemployment, which may well follow France's possible departure from the gold standard; or to produce a hopeful Budget in the spring and bear it on their standards to the polls. The national cries will be "Danger from foreign invasion," "Increased tariffs," and "Returning prosperity."

The last cry will probably be the most effective for everyone will have forgotten by then that our increased exports which have so benefited trade are the direct result of our departure from the gold standard, to prevent which the original National Government was formed.

We are an illogical and forgetful people, and therefore it will be safe to credit our Government with the beneficial consequences of a pound sterling well below gold par.

Opposed to the National Government candidates will be both Labour and Liberal. The cry of the former will be "Preparation for Peace," rather than "Preparation for War," and the latter party will expostulate on the iniquities of the tariff system.

Appeal To Fear

As an adjunct to the National campaign will be the appeal to Fear, which is such a safe card to play on our liberty-loving and loyal people.

They will be told, and quite rightly, that if a Socialist Government comes into power there will be a financial panic. They will not be told to wonder how or why it is engineered, nor what would happen if they paid no attention to it. Neither will they be told that if Mr. MacDonald had suspended the Bank Charter Act in the summer of 1931 we should have got rid of financial panics of that sort for ever.

If the Independent Liberals place a goodly number of candidates in the field, it will undoubtedly help the Labour Party in any constituency but an instance of pueril fever were reported as having occurred in the Colony during the week ended July 20. There were 55 deaths through tuberculosis.

From August 1 the office of the Consulate of Portugal will be installed in the new building of the Bank of East Asia Ltd., Room No. 101, 1st Floor. The office hours of the Consulate on week days will be from 9.30 a.m. to 3.30 p.m. consecutively, excepting on Saturdays when it will be closed at noon.

Mr. Lo had the prisoner in the witness box at this morning's hearing and he gave his account of what had happened. In answer to a question put by Counsel for the defence witness stated that he was 36 years of age and came from the Ping Hoi district, having lived in the Tung Fuk village for the past three years. He had known the deceased for two or three years and they had been the best of friends. He got on well with the general body of villagers but not with all of them.

"CURIOUS SENSATIONS"

On June 7, between 2 p.m. and 3 p.m. he had curious sensations and felt smoke and fire about, and this made him unconscious. That night he slept in his usual hut and some of the villagers wanted to kill him. He was stupefied and did not know what was happening, and these happenings occurred again the two following nights.

He told the deceased about these happenings and deceased asked him to go over and sleep at his place the next night (June 9), which he did. It was dark when he arrived and deceased told him to go to bed. There was only one bed in the room but the deceased did not enter and walked up and down the room with an oil-lamp in his hand.

After some time had passed the deceased suggested that they should extinguish the light and go to sleep, but the witness exclaimed that he was afraid. Witness then jumped out of bed and lay down on the floor, pulling the counterpane over his head to shut out the evil spirits. Suddenly he had a feeling that he was being attacked but could not explain the sensation.

SOME DELUSIONS

Looking through an aperture in the sheet he said to deceased: "We have been friends for so long now. I have been suffering and you know all that these people want to do to me." The deceased answered that he did not know what the villagers wanted to do to accused. He advised accused to leave the place the following morning.

Later witness thought he heard human voices outside the hut and strange sounds coming from the roof, and shortly afterwards he heard the voice of Chan Fook, another villager, calling to deceased. Deceased made as if to leave but witness begged him not to and to strengthen his plea locked the door. He did not understand why he had done this, for it was without purpose.

Looking round from the door he perceived deceased picking up an axe to make a lunge at him. He jumped at deceased, struck him, and gained possession of the axe. He hit deceased on the left side of his head with the axe and he retaliated by attempting to strike him with a pole, but accused had the better of the argument and struck another blow at deceased's head. Deceased then made a vain attempt to rush from the house, but accused pulled him back three times and delivered two more blows to his skull.

SELF-PROTECTION

Witness stated that he had not intended to kill him, but the deceased had struck first and he had to protect himself.

At the conclusion of the prisoner's evidence Mr. Fraser rose and told His Lordship that he was in a quandary as he was not aware of some of the facts disclosed by the accused. If the defence were to be taken seriously then he was at a disadvantage, because he had not known prisoner would plead self-defence.

Mr. Lo: "It is not a simple case of self-defence. The defence is that the accused was acting under a delusion."

Mr. Fraser: "Then that is all right."

Mr. Fraser then commenced his cross-examination of the witness but the latter's answers were so conflicting that Mr. Fraser stated that he would not cross-examine.

CONFLICTING ANSWERS

In answer to the first question put to him by the prosecution witness gave four distinct answers. Firstly he said that he had struck at deceased and gained possession of the axe. A few seconds later he said he had thrown the counterpane over the deceased and returned and brought in the axe taken the axe that way, and in mentioned verdict.

U.S. TOURISTS FOR HONG KONG

Due By "Empress Of Canada"

A party of 50 American tourists under the direction of the D. F. Robertson Travel Bureau, Los Angeles, California, is due to arrive at Hong Kong on the Empress of Canada on August 22, en route to Manila.

Included in the party are Dr. F. B. Fagerburg, Pastor of the Baptist Church, Los Angeles, Mr. W. B. Mikesell, President of the Fresno State College, and many others.

A 30-year-old Chinese woman, Ng Shui-fan, accidentally fell from the third floor of No. 66, Jardine's Bazaar yesterday evening, and was removed to the Government Civil Hospital suffering from injuries which are not considered to be serious.

Immediately afterwards he stated that he had thrown the counterpane over the axe and not the deceased. His fourth answer to the same question was that he had snatched the axe away.

In his summing up Mr. Fraser reminded the jury of the mental condition of the accused on evidence supplied by Dr. Shaw and Dr. Valentine. He said that they had three different verdicts from which to choose. A verdict of guilty, guilty while under a delusion; and guilty but insane. Mr. Fraser then reviewed the evidence.

In his address to the jury on behalf of the prisoner Mr. Lo stressed the point of the condition of the accused's mind when the act was committed. He spoke of the mode of life led by him and his feeble intellect. He pleaded with the jury to temper their verdict with mercy.

After a short absence the jury returned and brought in the afore-mentioned verdict.

To-day's Short Story.

Bushveld Cangsters

By C. T.
Stoneham

THE rising sun disclosed a sandy glade in the heart of the thorns. That waste of bush continued for fifty miles in every direction, and no man was able to maintain a home in its arid, desolate expanse, for in dry seasons there was insufficient grass to support cattle or sheep.

This scarcity was accentuated by the presence of numerous herds of game; impala, kudu, waterbuck, all flourished here, preyed upon by a variety of carnivorous beasts.

The Nyiro River ran through it, broad, deep, and sluggish, and all who would drink must visit the river, for there was no other perennial water.

Hunting-dogs were thirsty beasts; they drank three times a day and must keep in touch with the river. There were ten of them lying in the glade, sunning themselves in the warm dust.

They were big beasts, with long legs and bushy tails; their colouring was grey, almost obscured by irregular blotches of yellow and black.

Out of the thorns slouched a big, maned lion. He looked askance at the resting dogs; in the midst of the glade he stopped, turned his head from side to side and scrutinised them.

This beast prowled solitary through the desert, of which he was king, and his peculiar power spread about him like an aura. Even on the blackest night you would know by a curious unease that he was near, a tingling of the nerves.

But the dogs were entirely indifferent to him; they lay returning his gaze with bright, intelligent eyes in which was no trace of nervousness.

Simba grunted disgustedly and passed on towards the river.

THREE EUROPEANS SUMMONED

Dogs Without Muzzle Or Lead

Three European residents were summoned before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Central Police Court this morning for allowing their dogs abroad on different dates without muzzle or lead. Mr. W. Pittendrig, of No. 18A, Macdonnell Road, was fined $5, and Mr. A. J. Reed, of No. 8, Broadwood Road, was fined $8.

Mr. R. R. Wood was cautioned, as it was stated that his dog which was tied near the front door, had snapped his lead on the approach of a coolie, run into the road and returned immediately.

EUROPEAN IN CAR MISHAP

While driving car No. 4002 along Castle Peak Road at about 6.45 p.m. yesterday, Mr. W. G. Brown, of No. 227, Prince Edward Road, accidentally collided with car No. 2572. No one was injured, but the rear mud-guard of the latter car was damaged.

A 22-year-old locksmith, Tang Chin, and a lotry cleaner, Yip Kum-man, were each bound over in a bond of $50 to be of good behaviour for a period of six months by Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Police Court this morning for fighting outside No. 90, Third Street yesterday.

Association Rivalry Held Responsible For Alleged Assault

An unusual case of assault he would be assaulted. The letters bore several names, including those of the defendants. At a later date a telephone message was received at the Chin Hop Rice Shop at No. 51, Sha Po Road, asking for the complainant, who lived near by. The master of the shop sent a folk to call the complainant, and when he was returning with the folk about 10 men set upon complainant and assaulted him. All the men, amongst whom he recognised the six defendants, were armed with scissors. The defendant was admitted to the Kowloon Hospital, but was only detained for a short while.

Infant Daughter Of Mr. And Mrs. Waan

The many friends of Mr. John S. H. Waan, Secretary to the Italian Consulate General, and Mrs. Mary Waan, will regret to learn of the death of their infant daughter, Nakatena K. P. Waan, which occurred at the French Hospital this morning.

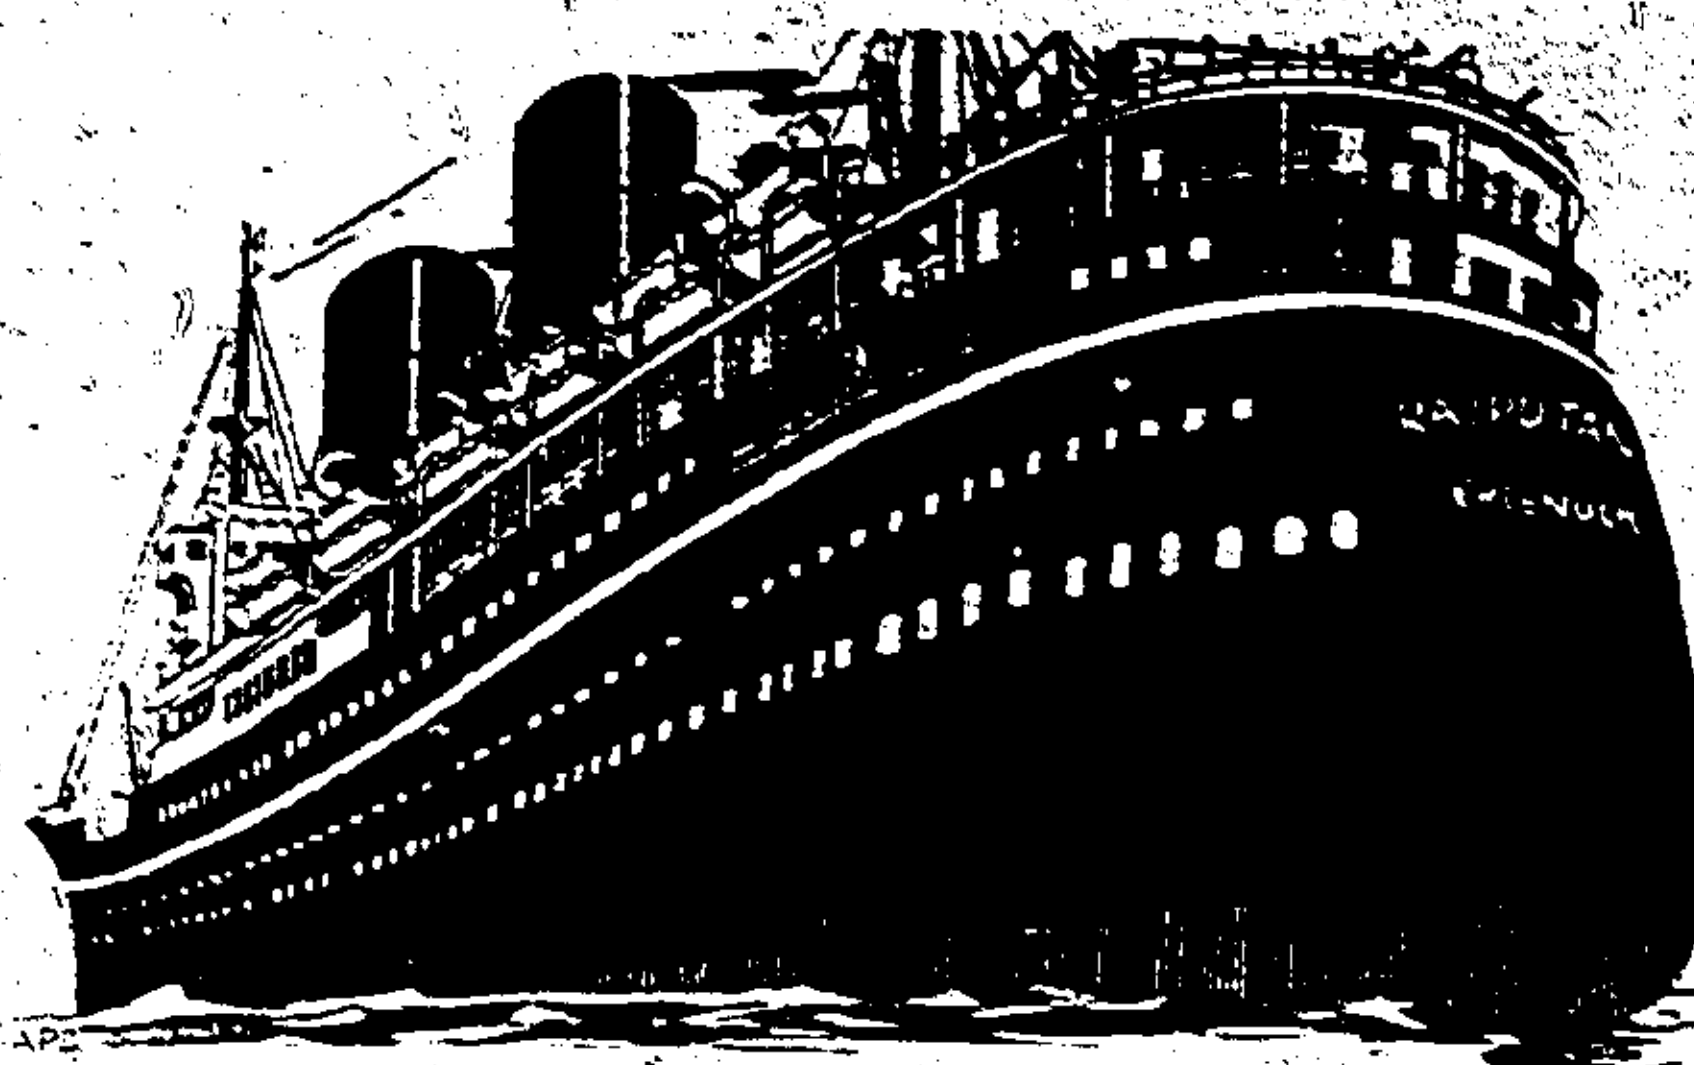

The funeral will take place at the Roman Catholic Cemetery tomorrow, passing the Monument at 5.30 p.m.

PERRY EXTENDED BY VAN RYN

The score tells its own tale fairly accurately—4-6, 6-1, 6-3, 10-8. The figures do not indicate that Perry started rather loosely and that Van Ryn often found a genuine "pepper-box" in his opponent's backhand corner to which he directed a stream of fine forcing shots.

Van Ryn In Command

Not that Perry, swiftest of all movers about the court, failed to reach the ball; he often found Van Ryn in command of the net when the reply was sent over.

If the ball came across the court the American's best shot, the backhand volley, was released; if Perry lobbed it was seen that a particularly clean smash is grown in Virginia.

When Perry had lost the first set in the tenth game the champion realised that he had a serious task on hand. He braced to carry the second set with a sequence of panther-like evolutions. But Van Ryn is a seasoned campaigner and did not wince.

The third set was a stubborn affair and might well have gone beyond nine games. The American was still setting his backhand trap and bringing off his volleying coups. Perry only held him at bay—and that after several long games—by his firmer forehand and by using his "10-second" sprinting powers.

By sound defence rather than by any crushing attack—putting his own stamina against that of Van Ryn and hoping that the American's strong net attack would abate as he tired—the champion advanced to 5-3 in the fourth set. Twice he was separated from the match by a single point in the ninth game. On both occasions his aim deserted him; he drew just over the line.

American Goes Ahead

The condemned man celebrated his reprieve by playing very fine tennis, and if Perry had flinched under an intensive attack, most confidently conducted, this article might have had another heading.

With Van Ryn taking all the chances created by his own sagacious strategy and with Perry declining to exploit a counter-attack, the set was levelled. Then Van Ryn, hitting cleanly off the ground and as sweetly on the volley, got ahead at 8-7.

The vision of a safe four-set victory was now dissolved. A champion's shots were required to avert a serious situation. They were forthcoming, and in spite of Van Ryn's plucky resistance to the end, his greater speed of foot and stroke carried the champion serenely through his crisis.

Anstin, dwarfed in court beside the giant Musgrove, of South Africa, had a smooth passage, with a little sickness in mid-Channel. In the third set Musgrove used his height and broad shoulders. The Englishman was inclined to press unduly, and Musgrove captured the set. In the other three all was plain sailing for the smaller man.

G. P. Hughes also had to parry a fierce service—one of the best at Wimbledon. Kukuljevic reminded one of Johnny Doeg, the Californian "cannon-baller." Both are left-handed and there was the same easy action—pace without effort.

Hughes had all his work cut out to win and the match went the full course. He got an easy break in the fifth set, which took him to 4-1, and then, saving his best shots for the vital stage, he drew away, leaving behind an adversary of whom Wimbledon will hear again.

Sharpe Defeats Stefani

Nigel Sharpe, the fourth English victor, again spent two hours in court. His prize was the Italian champion, G. de Stefani, whom he carried into port after a desperate fight. The driving length of both men was good all through, the rallies were keen and businesslike. Sharpe had to break through the service in the fifth set to win, he made two beautiful drops. One thought that the Italian had done worse of a doubtful decision, but the hour was late and the light falling.

If America lost Van Ryn, its three other envoys—Wood, Budge of car No. 2143, and Make—were in capital form. The damage done to the cars was comparatively slight, and "prized" Wood in the long second set one was injured.

set by his wonderful retrieving. The Welshman almost gained it; but he did not possess Wood's stroke equipment nor his delicate touch at short range.

Donald Budge Advances

The 19-year-old Donald Budge, fresh from the Far West, gets better every match. His backhand drive should be seen to be admired; it has a maximum of pace and is under the firmest control. Meeting Adrian Quist, the polished South African, he won in three sets, only the first going to "want-a-game." This was a most exhilarating encounter and the standard of play was always high.

Crawford, McGrath and Hopman are holding aloft the Australian flag. The blades on Crawford's weapons lacked their polish of Wednesday and he was kept in court for 52 games by L. Hecht, a beautiful stroke-maker from Prague. Every one of the four sets, except the last, was close. The Australian champion found a service as strong as his own—three aces came in one game—and a back-hand of admirable length and pace.

Crawford was less inclined to hustle, and in his quiescent mood made many errors, but Hecht earned every one of his games. I like his compact all-round game.

TRIPLE COLLISION ON WATERFRONT

All Cars Slightly Damaged

NO PERSONAL INJURIES

While private car No. 7982, driven by Mr. L. Gokchin, was following car No. 253 along Connaught Road yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock, the latter stopped to allow two other cars to turn into Jackson Road.

Mr. Gokchin also stopped and was run into from behind by car No. 2143, driven by Li Shun-fong. The impact sent his car forward, causing him to collide with car No. 253, damaging his own front and the rear of the other car. His own rear was also damaged, as was the front of car No. 2143.

The damage done to the cars was comparatively slight, and "prized" Wood in the long second set one was injured.

Mrs. Stella Wharton, of Camden, New Jersey, has told the police that Harmon Wiley, the confessed Wyandegat baby kidnapper, sought to "harbor" her son, Raymond (above), after the Hauptmann trial. She believes he wanted to use him in a blackmail or kidnap plot.

UNEMPLOYMENT IN GERMANY

BETTER POSITION DISCLOSED

—CHINA MAIL—SPECIAL
Berlin, To-day.
The preliminary labour market returns published yesterday by the Reich Institute for Labour bureaus and working men's insurance offices show that the number engaged in useful employment rose by 119,000 during June, making the total number of those employed at June 30 some 16,505,000. This means that since the lowest ebb of unemployment, that is at the end of January five months ago, 2,100,
000 people have found work again.

The increase in the number employed since January is about 1,000,000 higher than the decrease in unemployment in the same period, the difference being explained by the heavy addition to the labour market through youths reaching the school-leaving age.—Trans-Ocean Service.

BRITISH MISSIONS IN ABYSSINIA

Government Warning Issued

WILL EVACUATE FAMILIES IF DESIRED

London, To-day.
Missionary Societies in London
have been warned by Government that British missionaries who are scattered in very remote districts of Abyssinia should be advised to concentrate in the neighbourhood of Addis Ababa.

The missionaries affected, with their wives and families, number less than 100 and, if they desire that their wives and families should leave the country, suitable arrangements will be made for their departure.—British Wireless Service.

EMBASSY GUARDED

article in the Giornale d'Italia cites the British Government's decision not to place an embargo on arms for either party as proof of Anglo-Ethiopian solidarity.—
Reuter.

BRITISH DELEGATE

A London message states that it is expected that Mr. Anthony Eden, Minister for League of Nations Affairs, will be the principal
British delegate to the League
Council meeting dealing with Abyssinia on July 29.—Reuter.

SOVIET PARACHUTE TEAMS

The first All-Union meeting of parachute teams from all parts of Soviet Russia will take place at Moscow from August 6 to 15.

PROTEST TO POLAND BY DANZIG

New Customs Measure Resented

IMMEDIATE WITHDRAWAL EXPECTED

—CHINA MAIL—SPECIAL

Danzig, To-day.
The President of the Danzig
Senate, M. Greiser, has handed over to the diplomatic representative in Danzig of the Republic of Poland, Minister Papec, a note protesting strongly on behalf of the Senate against the new Customs House regulations issued by the Polish Ministry for Trade.

The note states that these measures constitute an extraordinarily grave breach of the constitutional relationship between Danzig and Poland.

"For this reason," continues the note literally, "I have instructed the Danzig Custom Office not to execute the instructions of this decree."

In conveying to you, Mr.
Minister, the protest of the Senate of the Free City of Danzig, I expect that the measure will be withdrawn instantly. Moreover, the Senate reserves the right to take all the steps necessary for the protection of the interests of Danzig, and in particular to demand compensation for all damage that may accrue to the Free City through the proclamation of this decree.

SENATE COMMUNIQUE

In a communique issued by the Senate yesterday it is further declared that if put into force the decree would exclude Danzig from all participation in the trade of supplying Poland with foreign goods. Danzig was included in the Polish Customs territory expressly in order that certain goods might be cleared at the Danzig Customs House and pass unhindered to Poland.

In the name of the whole population of Danzig the Government reserves the right to claim compensation for all damage caused by the enforcement of the decree, for which Poland can alone be made responsible.—Trans-Ocean
Service.

ALLEGED ROBBERY OF SOVIET STATE

Factory Officials Charged

Moscow.

Fourteen works directors and higher officials of the Borez Factory are being accused by the public prosecutor of having robbed the State to the extent of many millions through forging in-voices, delivery notes and prom-issory notes and through falsification of accounts.

The reports state that big credits were obtained from banks in the name of the state, while the proceeds were used by accused for private purposes.

ABUSIVE LEAFLETS IN DANZIG

German Nationalists Arrested

RINGLEADER ESCAPES

—CHINA MAIL—SPECIAL

Danzig, To-day.
Six members of the German Nationalist Party have been arrested by the political police for the public distribution of leaflets abusing the Danzig Government in a most despicable manner. The leaflets were printed in the works of the organ of the Danzig Centrist (that is, the Catholic) Party, thus furnishing new proof that the Centrists and reactionaries are working together.

The real leader of this joint opposition, a lawyer named Weise, a member of the Danzig Diet, escaped arrest by crossing the frontier, whereby he clearly intended to evade the consequences of subversive activity by taking advantage of the measure that a Deputy can only be arrested immediately after any breach of the law.—
Trans-Ocean Service.

DOCTOR FINED IN ENGLAND

Driving While Under Influence Of Drink

Dr. Eric Gordon Fleming, 42, of Marlborough-hill, St. John's
Wood, was fined £20 at West London recently and ordered to pay 10 guineas costs on a charge of being under the influence of drink to such an extent as to be incapable of having proper control of a car. He pleaded guilty.

Mr. G. G. Raphael, prosecuting, said Dr. Fleming, driving in High-street, Notting Hill-gate, passed three sets of traffic
signals which were against him.
Officers in a police-car stopped him and observed he was under the influence of drink.

Mr. John Mande, defending, said Dr. Fleming had been working very hard and had been sleeping badly. He went to a dinner-party and on leaving appeared to be quite normal.
The fresh air and the overstrain may have combined to affect him.

The magistrate, Sir Gervais
Bentley, K.C., disqualified Dr.
Fleming from holding a driving licence for 12 months.

P. I. CUSTOMS DUTIES

duties on the imports of beer and
